Courses of Study for
DIPLOMA IN ELEMENTARY EDUCATION (D.El. Ed.)
(As per NCFTE, 2009 imperatives)

The quality of school environment and classroom learning is largely dependent on the quality of teachers. The pre- service teacher education programmes are intended to prepare quality prospective teachers. With the changing perspectives of the school education, in general, and the learning processes of each individual learner, in particular, the pedagogical processes are undergoing sea-changes which necessitate appropriate and thorough revision of the teacher education curriculum.

Beginning with the inclusion of universalization of comparable quality in the objectives of the Universalization of Elementary Education in the National Policy of Education 1986, all subsequent documents and programmes on UEE have given primacy to the quality of education along with the provisions of access, enrolment and retention. The National Curriculum Framework 2005 has gone a step ahead in echoing the universal concern for actualizing learner and learning centered approaches to the classroom processes. Further, the constructivist approach of learning and teaching is being adopted instead of the traditional teacher-centered transmissionistic approaches. As a result, the classroom processes are being transformed to suit to the learners' needs and aspirations. This trend of learner centered pedagogy has been accorded legal status in the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. The Sarva Shiksha Abhiyan (SSA), the largest programme for universalizing elementary education with widest coverage possible, being implemented since 2001, has been focusing on the learner-centered, activity-based, participatory learning experiences in the classroom as well as in the school context. It becomes imperative to enable the prospective teachers use these practices and understand their theoretical bases. The elementary teacher education programme needs to be transformed to address these issues. Against this background, the present courses of study for the Diploma in Elementary Education for prospective elementary school teachers of Odisha have been developed.

This course of study has been developed, based on the visions and provisions of three major national documents as well as the reflections made in the National Education Policy 1986/1992. These three documents are The National Curriculum Framework 2005 (NCF 2005), The National Curriculum Framework for Teacher Education 2009 (NCFTE 2009) and The Rights of Children for Free and Compulsory Education Act 2009. The structure of the courses of study has been developed in conformity with the one suggested in the NCFTE 2009 and the model courses of study provided by the National Council of Teacher Education in 2011

1. The Vision: In order that the teacher education must become more sensitive to the emerging demands from the school system, it must prepare teacher for the roles of being an

- encouraging, supportive and humane facilitator in teaching-learning situation to enable learner to discover their talents, realize their physical and intellectual potentialities to the fullest, and to develop character and desirable social and human values to function as responsible citizen; and
- active member of a group of persons who makes a conscious effort for curricular renewal so that it is relevant to changing societal needs and the personal needs of learners (NCF 2005, p.107).

2. Considerations: In order to realize the above stated vision, the major considerations that guided the preparation of this document are:

- Understanding children and their ways of learning and creating situations conducive to their learning is central to all the efforts of the teacher.

- Learning needs to be appreciated as a participatory process that takes place in the shared social context of the learner's immediate peers as well as the social community. Learners should be viewed as active participants in the learning process and not be considered as passive recipients of information.
- Learning is to be viewed as a search for meaning out of personal experience and knowledge generation as a continuously evolving process of observation, verification, and reflection and so on.
- The role of the teacher is to facilitate learning rather than the source and custodian of knowledge. As a facilitator he/she is to help learners in transforming information into knowledge/wisdom, support in enhancing learning through multiple exposures, encourage the learner to continuously achieve his/her educational goals.
- The social climate and the context from which the learners and teachers emerge have great influence on the learning. Therefore, learner's social, cultural, economic and political contexts are to be taken into account along with his/her psychological characteristics for designing learning strategies.
- Knowledge in teacher education is multidisciplinary in nature within the context of education. Conceptual inputs in teacher education need to be articulated in such a manner that they describe and explain educational phenomena – actions, tasks, efforts, processes, concepts and events.
- Teacher education programme need to provide the space for engagement with issues and concerns of contemporary Indian society, its pluralistic nature, and issues of social and racial identity, gender, equity, livelihood and poverty.
- Teacher education programme need to broaden the curriculum to include different traditions of knowledge; educate teachers to connect school knowledge with community knowledge and life outside the school.

- Teacher education need to help teacher's appreciate the potential of hands-on experience as a pedagogic medium both inside and outside the classroom; and work as integral to the process of education.
- Teachers need to re-conceptualize citizenship education in terms of human rights and approaches of critical pedagogy; emphasize environment and its protection, living in harmony within oneself and with natural and social environment; promote peace, democratic way of life, constitutional values of equality, justice, liberty, fraternity and secularism and caring values.
- The evaluation protocol needs to be comprehensive and provide due place for the evaluation of attitudes, values, dispositions, habits and hobbies, in addition to the conceptual and pedagogical aspects through appropriate quantitative as well as qualitative parameters.

3. Objectives of the Course: The objectives of the course are to enable the trainees to:

- equip themselves with a repertoire of pedagogical skills so that they can improve the quality of classroom instruction
